#unearthedfurniture

a timeless, luxurious furniture

There is a rich reward of owning a piece of the bleached teak furniture collection.

- Charlie Kodatt

beauty of unearthed jungles

It all started when I was 38 years old. I got on a plane to Indonesia in search for the best woods in the world. I came to Indonesia to buy items for my families furniture stores in the United States and ended up not going back. That was 2015. It's now been four years since this journey began. During this time, I have gained a self-taught skill in identifying woods throughout the jungles of Indonesia that have the highest value and ones that I can use to create one-of-a-kind art pieces that are used by you for furniture in your home or commercial spaces.

the beginning

Time goes so fast. As I write this intro about who I am, I seem to only remember the hard times I faced getting to where I am now. Learning the language, searching for workers and teaching them only for them to not return after lunch. Finding a place to work. Dealing with many religious holidays and ceremonies that stop all work for the day or days. Dealing with the culture of enjoying life first right after religion. Living in remote villages in Indonesia designing and creating art pieces. Through all of the tough times and living out of your comfort zone every day, I have created amazing pieces that I hope you will purchase and showcase in your home, hotel and other spaces. My team and I have worked on over 4,000 pieces and in the past 4 years and have a combined 90,000 working hours.

current situation

Each item we unearth feels like Christmas for me. After painstakingly digging, hauling, cleaning and detailing the wood, I will take some white chalk and start drawing lines. These lines are where

I will make little cuts with the chainsaw until I am satisfied with what I made. Then we start the finishing process.

My work started getting noticed by people from all over the world and I have completed pieces for many people from Spain, Russia, Portugal, South Africa, Australia, France and Germany.

My warehouse and showroom is in a village 21km south from Banyuwangi, Java, Indonesia. I have a small team of 7 guys including myself. We have been doing production pieces of certain items for very big and well known high-end companies and interior designers in the United States the past few years. In addition, I have established a personal collection of items that are truly world class. Some items are over 600 years old. These items I have collected in raw form are now finished and ready to be sold to the public around the world.

Enjoy what we have put together and please contact us about any questions you have.

PETHAK

This is very rare and beautiful bleached teak root coffee table. What makes this rare is the natural stone the teak roots wrap themselves around. The look is so organic and natural. We bleached it for 15 months in the salty and extremely hot sun. During rainy season we store it in a dry metal building and have rotating fans blowing so it never traps in humidity. With a lightly tinted beveled square glass on top, this coffee table will make you a proud owner. We can't wait to see it in a beautiful home.
